Information and Records Management Society Retention Guidelines for Schools

This retention schedule contains recommended retention periods for the different record series created and maintained by schools in the course of their business. The schedule refers to all information regardless of the media in which it is stored.

Some of the retention periods are governed by statute. Others are guidelines following best practice. Every effort has been made to ensure that these retention periods are compliant with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998, The General Data Protection Regulation 2018 and the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Managing record series using these retention guidelines will be deemed to be “normal processing” under the legislation mentioned above. If record series are to be kept for longer or shorter periods than laid out in this document the reasons for this need to be documented.

This schedule should be reviewed on a regular basis.

Introduction

In the course of carrying out its various functions and activities, Harmonize Academy AP Free School collects information from students, parent/carers and external organisations; generating a wide range of data and information which is recorded.

These records can take many different forms, including:

- Students' Records
- Letters received from Parent/Carers/third parties
- File attendance notes
- Minutes
- Completed application forms
- Financial records
- Child Protection files
- Admission Registers
- e-mail communications (and any attachments)
- Photographs

Many of the above can be retained as 'hard' paper records or in electronic form. Retention of specific documents may be necessary to:

- Fulfil statutory or other regulatory requirements
- Evidence events and agreements in the case of disputes
- Meet operational needs
- Ensure the preservation of documents of historic or other value

The untimely destruction of documents could cause the school:

- Difficulty in defending litigious claims
- Operational problems
- Embarrassment
- Failure to comply with the Freedom of Information or Data Protection Acts

Conversely, the permanent retention of all documents is undesirable, and appropriate disposal is to be encouraged for the following reasons:

- There is a shortage of new storage space
- Disposal of existing documents can free up space for more productive activities
- Indefinite retention of personal data may be unlawful
- Reduction of fire risk (in the case of paper records)
- There is evidence that the de-cluttering of office accommodation can be psychologically beneficial for many workers

Safe disposal of records which have reached the end of their administrative life

All records containing personal information, or sensitive policy information should be made either unreadable or un-reconstructable.

- Paper records should be shredded using a cross-cutting shredder
- CDs / DVDs should be cut into pieces
- Hard Disks should be dismantled and sanded

Any other records should be bundled up and disposed of to a waste paper merchant or disposed of in other appropriate ways. Do not put records in with the regular waste or a skip unless there is no other alternative.

There are companies who can provide confidential waste bins and other services which can be purchased to ensure that records are disposed of in an appropriate way.

The shredding needs to be planned with specific dates and all records should be identified as to the date of destruction.

It is important to understand that if the records are recorded as to be destroyed but have not yet been destroyed and a request for the records has been received they MUST still be provided.

Where records are destroyed internally, the process must ensure that all records that are recorded are authorised to be destroyed by a Senior Manager and the destruction recorded. Records should be shredded as soon as the record has been documented as being destroyed.

All disposals should be documented in the destruction log at Appendix 1.

Copies of all logs should be maintained.

Transfer of records to the Archives

Where records have been identified as being worthy of permanent preservation arrangements should be made to transfer the records to the County Archives Service. The school should contact the local record office if there is a requirement to permanently archive the records.

Legal Requirements

Data Protection Act (DPA) 1998

The Senior Management Team need to be aware that under the DPA personal data processed for any purpose must not be kept for any longer than is necessary for that purpose. In other words, retaining documents or records that contain personal data beyond the length of time necessary for the purpose for which that data was obtained is unlawful.

Principle 5 of the DPA states that “personal data processed for any purpose or purposes shall not be kept for longer than is necessary for that purpose or those purposes.”

General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2018

Under the GDPR data subjects have the right to have their data ‘erased’ in certain specified situations – in essence where the processing fails to satisfy the requirements of the GDPR. The right can be exercised against controllers, who must respond without undue delay.

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) 2000

The Act requires the school to make information available to the public unless specific exemptions(s) apply. The Lord Chancellor’s Code of Practice on the Management of Records issued under Section 46 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 sets out rules on how we should manage records and information, including responsibilities on all staff to implement records retention and disposal schedules.

The Goddard Enquiry 2015

On 12 March 2015, the Home Secretary established a statutory inquiry under the 2005 Inquiries Act with the aim of conducting an overarching national review of the extent to which institutions in England and Wales have discharged their duty of care to protect children against sexual abuse.

On 15th July 2015, Justice Goddard wrote to every Chief Executive of a Local Authority in England and Wales, requesting that:

‘retain any and all documents; correspondence; notes; emails and all other information however held- which contain or may contain content pertaining directly or indirectly to the sexual abuse of children or to child protection and care. For the purposes of this appendix, the word “children” relates to any person under the age of 18.’
